The World Champion NEW YORK YANKEES 1957 YEAR BOOK

(MID-SEASON REVISED EDITION)

On the pages of this Yearbook is the story of the New York Yankees —1957 edition. But the story of the 1957 Yankees goes back long before most of the present day players were born. For the Yankees have become a baseball legend. Each year's club is a new chapter in the most successful sports story in the annals of sports.

Since 1921, the Yankees have won 22 American League pennants and 17 World Championships, a mark never attained, or even approached, in the long history of our "National Game." Many great stars have played in Yankee Stadium, the "Home of Champions." But the victories scored have been Yankee team victories, for the most part.

You'll read in these pages about some of these teams, and about many of the diamond greats who have played here . . . We of the Yankees hope that 1957 will be another great baseball season and that another colorful, exciting, championship Yankee team will emerge.

YANKEE CO-OWNERS

Seven World Championships and eight American League pennants have been won by the New York Yankees in the dozen years of ownership by the two men pictured above. After the immediate post-war rebuilding period, the Yankees of Dan Topping and Del Webb have won eight pennants in ten years (1947 through 1956).

The Yankee co-owners long have been ardent sports enthusiasts, both as competitors and executives. Thus their record of success as owners of the Yankees merely is the fulfilling of their pledge to continue the Yankee "Tradition of Triumph."

Perhaps their combined success in baseball is natural, for both of these men have had outstanding careers in other fields. But it is in baseball that both "Dan" and "Del" are happiest.

Topping has been active in sports since he was a boy. He played college baseball and football and has played in many major golf tournaments. At one time he owned the Brooklyn football Dodgers, and later the gridiron Yankees of the All-America Conference. Today he is a director of Madison Square Garden and of many other corporations and businesses. But his abiding interest continues to be in baseball in general and his Yankees in particular.

Webb was launched on a promising professional baseball career until a sore arm ended his playing days. From there he built one of the nation's largest construction firms, starting at the bottom as a carpenter and gradually developing the Del E. Webb Construction Co. of Phoenix and Los Angeles. Today he is forced to divide his time between baseball . . . his first interest . . . and his thriving construction business, as well as supervising investments in mining, oil, hotels and shopping centers. But he still finds time for his Yankees in particular and for all of organized baseball. In the Fall of 1955, Webb accompanied the Bombers on their historic trip to Japan and the Far East.

YANKEE MANAGEMENT

GEORGE M. WEISS

On Lincoln's Birthday this year—February 12th—George Weiss completed a quarter century of continuous service as a Yankee executive. In those 25 years, Weiss has been affiliated with 16 American League pennant winners and 14 World Championship Yankee clubs. During his nine years as general manager of the Bombers, his clubs have won seven league titles and six world championships.

He started in baseball about four decades ago, moving from successes at New Haven, Baltimore and as farm director of the Yankees at Newark to Yankee Stadium. He pioneered the Yankee farm system which today continues to feed fine young ball players to the "Home of Champions."

In his career as G. M., Weiss has won virtually every honor awarded to baseball executives. He was named the number one executive of the year by the SPORTING NEWS three times. In 1953 he was honored by the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association with the Bill Slocum Award for long and meritorious service to the game.

J. ARTHUR FRIEDLUND

Secretary and general counsel for the Yankees is Chicagoan J. Arthur Friedlund. He has been associated with many sports enterprises in Chicago and other midwestern cities and with the Bronx Bombers during the Topping-Webb regime. He has been an important factor in the business operation of the Yankees. He and his wife accompanied the Yanks on their Far Eastern tour in 1955.

Treasurer of the New York Yankees and a valued associate of Del Webb's in the latter's construction business is Robert A. Becker. Strangely, Becker was born within blocks of Yankee Stadium, but now makes his home in Phoenix, Ariz. Playing some semi-pro ball before moving west, Becker continues his enthusiasm for the game as a Yankee fan in Phoenix. He hopes to return in October to root for a Yankee victory.

ROBERT A. BECKER

New 3-Ring Team! Yankee baseball on radio and TV this year will be more colorful . . . more exciting than ever as a great new 3-ring team brings it all your way — courtesy of Ballantine Beer.

MEL ALLEN — Tops in the business, Mel has been doing broadcasts of the Yankee games since before World War II. Blessed with a remarkable fund of baseball knowledge, his vivid, accurate descriptions of the play-by-play make fans feel as if they are right in the ball park. Mel's been selected by the Commissioner's office to announce 16 All-Star Games, 14 World Series . . . an outstanding record.

PHIL RIZZUTO—All-time Yankee shortstop, player on 11 Yankee pennant-winning teams, Phil's got so many honors they're impossible to list. Notable, however, was the "Scooter's" selection in 1950 as the league's Most Valuable Player. Having hung up his spikes, Phil moves to the broadcasting and telecasting booth to bring you the action he was once an important part of both on the field and at bat.

RED BARBER — Veteran broadcaster and one of the keenest students of the game, Red's added more words and phrases to the fans' vocabulary than any other announcer. Who'll ever forget "tearing up the pea patch", "sitting in the cat-bird seat" and so many other colorful descriptions? Red's own inimitable style stamps him as one of the greatest broadcasters of all time, and has won him many broadcasting honors!

So, when you can't make it out to the ball park, remember that Ballantine Beer is happy to bring you Yankee baseball on radio and TV. Tune in the play-by-play over WINS or WPIX . . . as you enjoy Ballantine Beer — the liveliest taste in town!

11TH STRAIGHT YEAR!

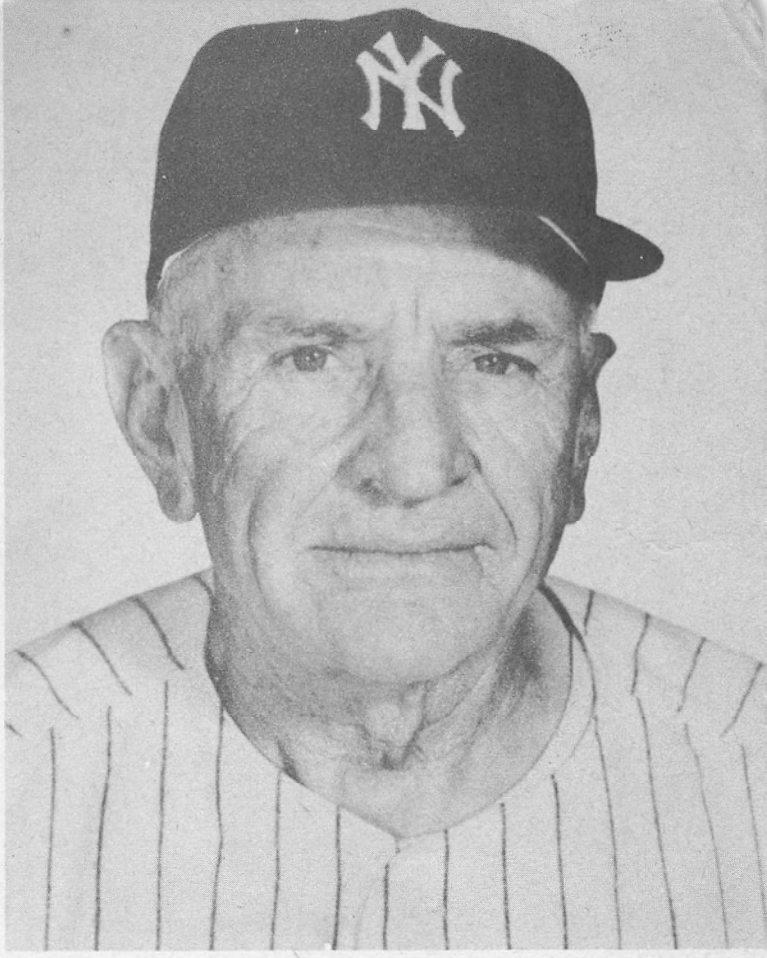
The Skipper

Seven out of eight is the incredible record of Manager Casey Stengel of the World Champion New York Yankees. Long one of baseball's outstanding personalities, Casey finally had the opportunity of managing a major league team with quality talent when he joined the Yanks. What he has done with that opportunity is baseball history.

Since assuming the skipper's reins in 1949, Stengel's clubs have won 783 league victories while losing 446 for a .637 average. In the post-season classic he has piloted his champs to 27 wins against only 15 setbacks in taking six of seven series. . . . In 1956, Casey again was named A. L. "Manager of the Year."

All of this success came late to the popular manager. He was a star outfielder in the National League from 1912 to 1925 and a pilot in the senior circuit from 1934 through 1943. In three World Series, Case hit a robust .393.

Will 1957 see him make it eight out of nine? "Well, we'll see," says Casey cautiously.



CASEY STENGEL

Number 37! A familiar figure on the diamond to Yankee fans. But here 'Ole Case watches a workout at Griffith Stadium, Washington, before last summer's All-Star game. This year will mark his seventh as manager of the American League All-Stars.

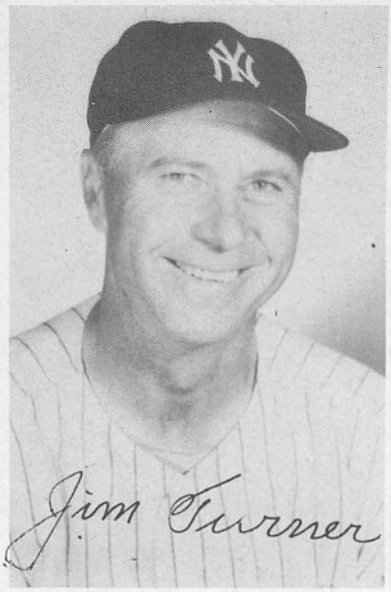
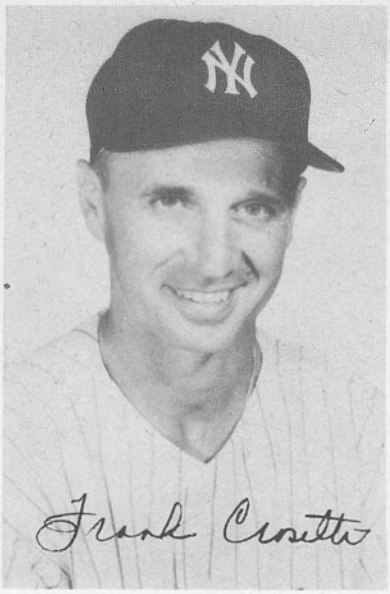
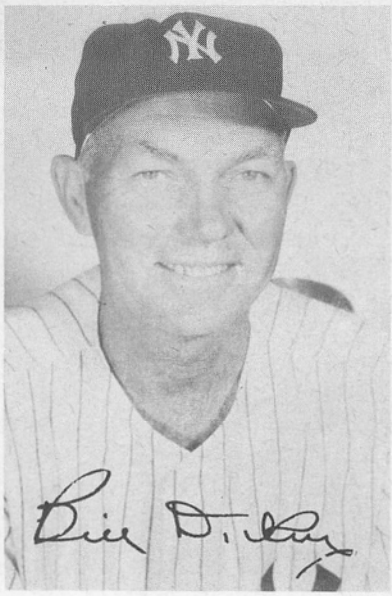
The BRAIN TRUST







JIM TURNER

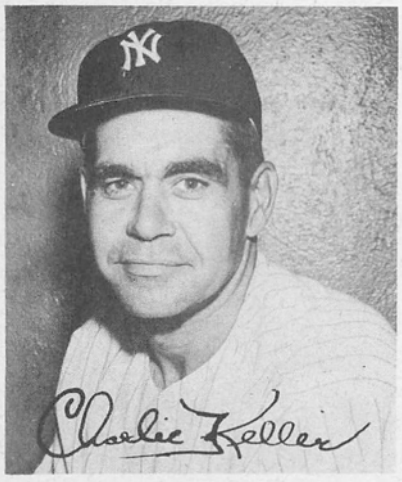
Pitching Coach on the Yankee Board of Strategy is Jim Turner. A former Braves' mound star, Jim first became a Yankee in 1942, closing his active big league career in Yankee pin-stripe. He piloted Yank farms at Beaumont and Portland before returning as a coach with Casey Stengel in 1949. All told, he has been with 10 pennant winners, seven as a Yankee.

FRANK CROSETTI

The Yankee third base coach first joined the Bombers in 1932, and played for 17 years. He has been a coach here since 1947 and now has participated in 16 World Series as a Bomber. He played in 1682 games for the Yanks and is one of the club's all-time infielders. Now 46, "Cro" looks like he could still play well at short.

BILL DICKEY

"Hall of Famer" Bill Dickey served 19 years as Yankee receiver, hitting a lifetime .313 in 1789 games. He caught in 38 World Series games and in eight All-Star contests. Now in his 28th year as a Yankee, Dickey has been with 16 championship clubs with the Bombers. He has been a Yankee coach since 1947, after managing the club in 1946.



CHARLIE KELLER

Always one of the Yankees' best team men, Charlie Keller happily returned to the Bombers he served so well from 1939 to 1952, to fill in for Coach Bill Dickey who is recuperating from nervous exhaustion. Like Bill, Charlie wears No. 33 and serves as first base and batting coach. During his brilliant playing career, Charlie hit .286, played on three A. L. All-Star teams and with four Yankee World Series clubs.

The Classic 1956

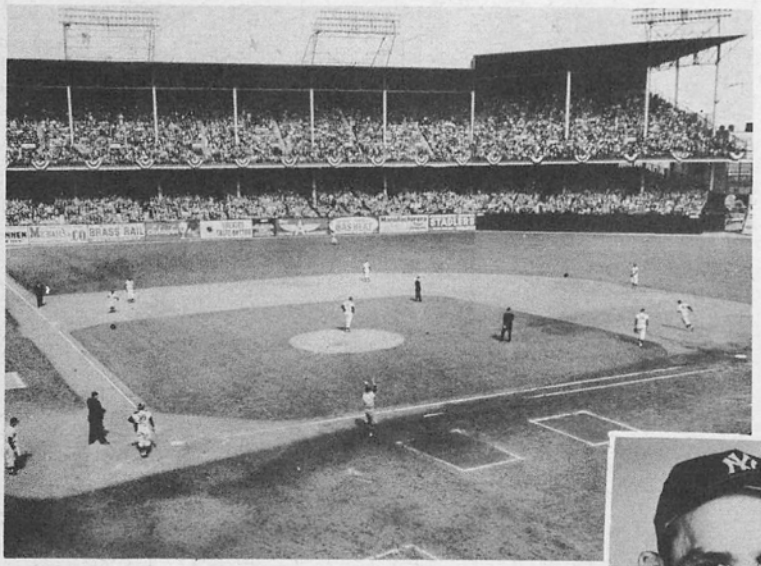
Coming back from a 2-0 deficit in games, the Yankees regained the baseball pinnacle as World Champions last October in a series as spine-tingling and dramatic as any ever played in the history of the classic.

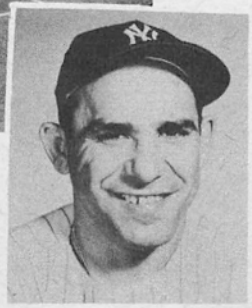
Pictured on these pages are a few of the heroes and the scenes of their triumph. Topped by Don Larsen's spectacular pitching performance in the fifth game and climaxed by Yogi Berra's pair of two-run homers that set up Johnny Kucks' 9-0 series victory in the final game, the 1956 World Series will be remembered as long as baseball is played.

Overall, the 1956 series win was the 17th for the Bombers in 22 pennant years, both major league records by a big margin. Since 1921 when they won their first American League title, the Yanks have taken a record 78 series games.

Yankee Stadium . . . truly the "Home of Champions" . . . has been the scene of more World Series drama than any other ball park.

Mickey Mantle, baseball's "Triple Crown" winner for 1956, saved Larsen's epic with a spectacular running catch in center field and drove in the first run with a line drive homer, one of three he hit in the series.





Berra's second homer of the game off Don Newcombe in third inning virtually clinched the seventh and deciding game for Johnny Kucks at Ebbets Field. He is pictured rounding first as Billy Martin nears third. The homer, one of three for Yog in the series, gave Bombers a 4-0 lead. They went on to win by a 9-0 count. Berra drove in 10 runs for a series record.

Kucks is mobbed (above) by teammates as Yankees defeat Dodgers, 9-0, in seventh and final game of the series. It was John's first series victory—a three-hitter—and he looks mighty happy in the clubhouse afterwards (see photo at left).

World Series

The pitch that will be remembered always! The scoreboard tells the story as Don Larsen hurls the 97th and last pitch of the first no-hitter in World Series history and the first perfect game in the majors in more than 34 years. Dale Mitchell (No. 8) was called out on this pitch.

He did it! All the pent-up excitement of the 64,519 Yankee Stadium fans is expressed in this photo of Berra leaping on Larsen in wild excitement after Don had hurled his masterpiece against the Dodgers.

Larsen answers questions (above) by the hundred for nearly three hours in the Stadium clubhouse as several hundred writers and broadcasters tried to get to him for the story of his perfect game, 2-0 win over Brooklyn which gave the Yanks a 3-2 edge in games. Below, Larsen (left) congratulates Babe Pinelli, veteran umpire who worked behind the plate in the historic game. Pinelli called it a career after the series, completing two dozen years as an arbiter without missing an assignment. The game was one of a thousand he called behind the plate. Berra, who was credited by Larsen for his "perfect game" calls, joins the happy pair.

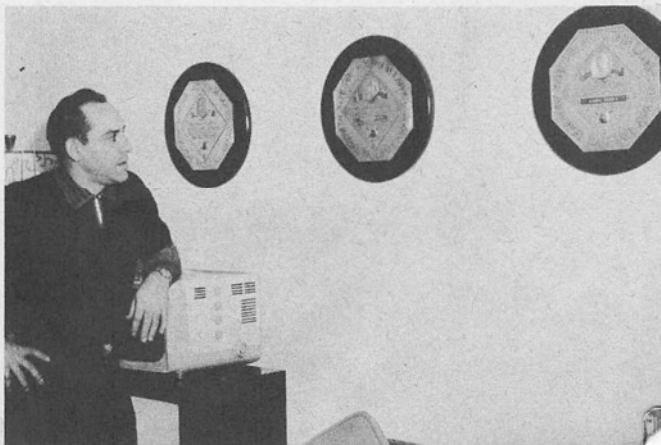
. . . Go The SPOILS

Mickey Mantle, baseball's player of the year 1956, won 12 major awards for his brilliant performances last season. The 25-year-old Yankee center fielder led both major leagues in home runs (52), batting average (.353), runs batted in (130), the Triple Crown; plus highest slugging percentage (.705), most total bases (376) and most runs scored (132). Here are the major awards received by Mickey:

1.) American League Most Valuable Player (unanimous).
2.) Sid Mercer Memorial Award by the N. Y. Chapter, Baseball Writers' Association of America as the "Player of the Year."
3.) The Hickok Belt Award as the "Professional Athlete of the Year."
4.) The Sporting News' designation as "Major League Player of the Year."
5.) Sport Magazine's "Athlete of the Year" award.
6.) "Babe Ruth Sultan of Swat" diamond tiara from the Baltimore Professional Baseball Players Assn.
7.) The Associated Press' Frederick G. Miller Memorial Award as "Outstanding Male Athlete of the Year."
8.) The Sports Broadcasters Association Plaque of Merit.
9.) The Art Briggs Memorial Award as the "Oklahoma Major Leaguer of the Year" (second successive win by Mantle).
10.) Oklahoma City Sportswriters' "Athlete of the Year" Award.
11.) The Los Angeles Times' "Outstanding Major League Player" Award.
12.) The General Sports Time "Hats Off" Award from Harry Wismer.

Mantle smiles with justifiable pride in right photo as Alan Hickok, vice-president of the Hickok Belt Co., presents the "S. Rae Hickok $10,000 Athlete of the Year Belt" to the Yankee center fielder. Above, Mickey receives the "Babe Ruth Sultan of Swat" diamond tiara award of the Baltimore Professional Baseball Players' Association. The presentation was made by Lou Grasmick, association president.



True, the year 1956 was Mickey Mantle's greatest and he copped most of the honors. But another Yankee stalwart has won his share of trophies, too. Yogi Berra, Bomber catcher, was runner-up for the A. L.'s MVP award in 1956. But he won the coveted honor three times previously, in 1951, 1954 and 1955. Here Yogi is pictured at home looking at the three MVP awards. No player ever has captured the honor more than three times to date.

CENTERFIELDER 7

Born, Oct. 20, 1931 at Spavinaw, Okla. Resides at Commerce, Okla. Height—5'11". Weight—198. Bats left and right. Throws right. Married and father of two boys, Mickey Elvin (4) and David Harold (1). Color of hair, blond. Color of eyes, gray.

A distinguished former major league star recently called Mickey Mantle the "greatest potential ball player who ever lived." Perhaps "potential" no longer is the word for it. Mickey has developed into the most exciting and dramatic player in the game. Last winter he copped awards for his prowess from sports organizations across the country (see preceding page). He won baseball's coveted "Triple Crown," only the second Yankee in history to do it (Lou Gehrig in 1934 was the other) . . . He has hit more homers in a season (52) than any Yankee player other than Babe Ruth, and his 50th in 1956 appropriately clinched the pennant for the Yankees in a dramatic 11th inning win at Chicago. He is the first switch hitter in A. L. history to win a batting title. And he's just 25 years old. If he remains sound of limb, Mickey Mantle may rewrite the record books before he hangs up his spikes.

HANK BAUER

OUTFIELDER 9

Born, July 31, 1922 at East St. Louis, Ill. Resides at Overland Park, Kans. Height —6'. Weight—189. Bats right. Throws right. Married and father of two boys, Henry, Jr. (6) and Herman (9 mos.), and one girl, Bernadine (2). Color of hair, brown. Color of eyes, hazel.

Hank Bauer is one of those ball players who improve with the years. Though the "Bruiser" hit his personal low of .241 at bat, he topped all of his other marks in 1956. He played in 147 games, rapped out 26 homers, drove in 84 tallies and hit seven triples, all high figures for husky Henry. Bauer entered the 1957 season with exactly 1000 base hits as a Yankee and an even 500 runs batted in. The veteran Bomber right fielder has played for all seven of Casey Stengel's pennant winners. Despite some strong series performances, he hit his first home run in last fall's classic, a two-run job off Don Drysdale in the fourth game. For slightly over eight seasons, Hank has a .285 lifetime batting average.

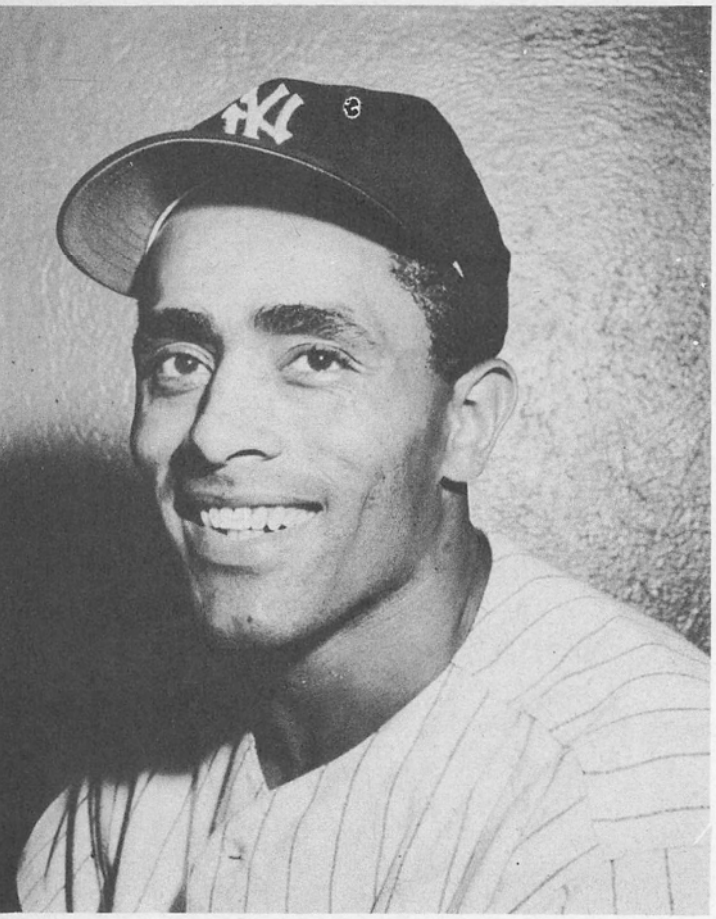
Born, Dec. 3, 1925 at Atlanta, Ga. Resides at Dalton, Ga. Height—6'2". Weight —170. Bats left. Throws right. Married and father of two boys, Michael (6) and Gary (1), and one girl, Gwendolyn (10). Color of hair, black. Color of eyes, brown.



Manager Casey Stengel and General Manager George Weiss are hoping that Harry Simpson will be the answer to the Yankees' need for a slugging left-hand hitting outfielder. The lean 31-year-old fly chaser came to the Bombers in an eleventh hour trade with Kansas City on June 15th in which Billy Martin went to the A's. Simpson, sometimes called "Suitcase" (for no particular reason), was a great prospect in the Cleveland organization, but never made the grade with the Tribe and was sold to K. C. in the spring of 1955. There he found himself, realizing his potential as a long ball hitter and RBI man. A right fielder, Harry can play anywhere in the garden, as well as at first base.

ENOS SLAUGHTER

OUTFIELDER 17

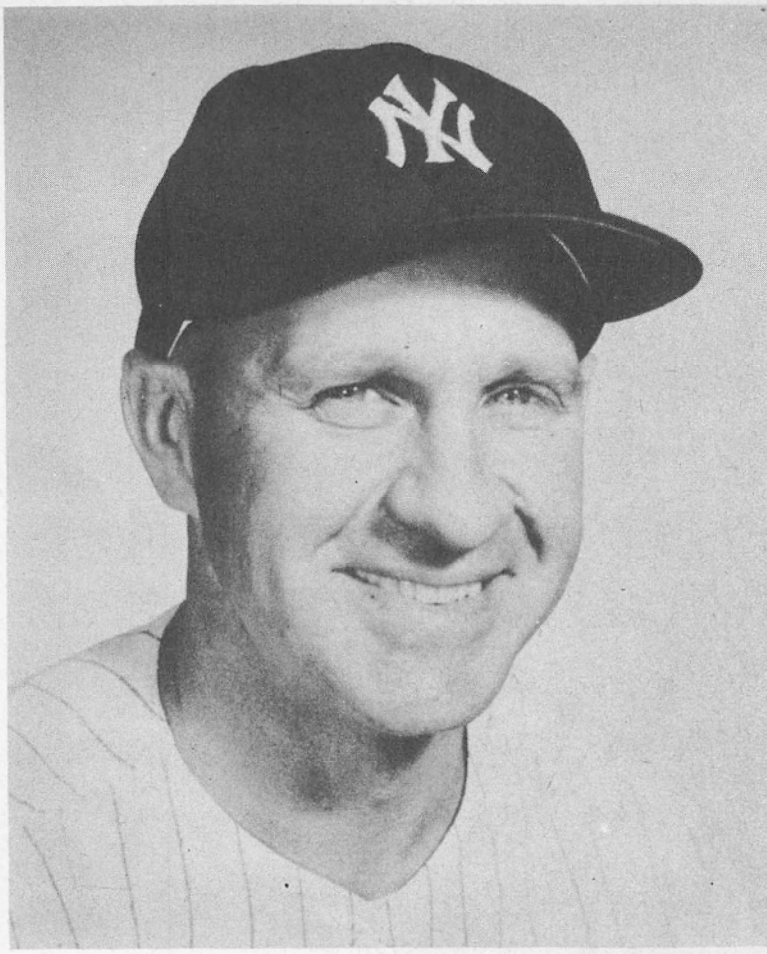
Born, April 27, 1916 at Roxboro, N. C. Resides at Roxboro, N. C. Height—5'9". Weight—191. Bats left. Throws right. Married and father of two girls, Patricia (9) and Gaye Arlene (6 mos.). Color of hair, brown. Color of eyes, blue.



This is the 20th year in the majors for the Old Warhorse, Enos Slaughter. At 41, he runs like a youngster half his age. His major league totals for the first 19 years (including three in service) show 2268 hits, 1229 runs batted in, 1192 runs scored. This is Enos' second tour of service with the Bombers. In last Fall's World Series, he helped the Stengelmen turn the tide by hitting a three-run homer in the third game. His last previous series effort was a decade earlier, in the 1946 classic.

GIL MCDOUGALD

INFIELDER 12

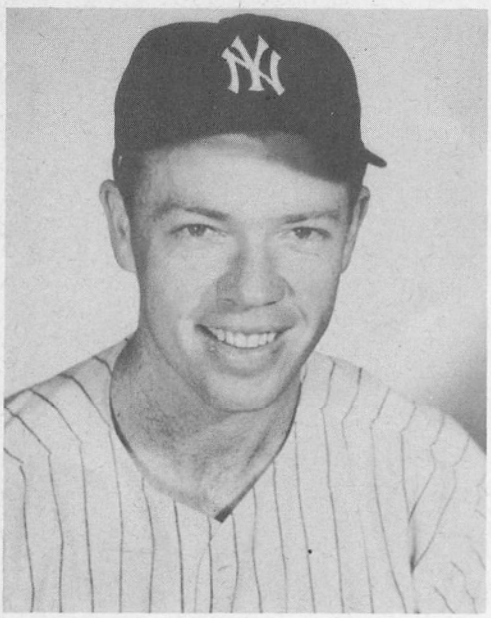
Born, May 19, 1928 at San Francisco, Calif. Resides at Nutley, N. J. Height—6'1". Weight—177. Bats right. Throws right. Married and father of two girls, Christine (8) and Denise (4½), and two boys, Gil, Jr. (7) and Tod (6). Color of hair, brown. Color of eyes, blue.



Last season was Gil McDougald's best as a Yankee. And not because he hit a personal high of .311. Gil, a star at second and third for the Bombers, moved to shortstop in an effort to fill Rizzuto's shoes. He played 14 games at that position on the club's Far Eastern Good-Will tour in 1955. Last year he was named to the A. L.'s All-Star squad . . . yes, as a shortstop. Gil came up to the champs in 1951 and immediately won "Rookie of the Year" honors, hitting a grand slam homer in the Series that fall. It was the first ever by a rookie in series play.

BILL SKOWRON

INFIELDER 14

Born, Dec. 18, 1930 at Chicago, Ill. Resides at Austin, Minn. Height—6'. Weight 197. Bats right. Throws right. Married and father of two boys, Gregory (3) and Stephen (4 mos.). Color of hair, black. Color of eyes, hazel.

Bill Skowron

The year 1956 was, by far, Bill Skowron's best in the majors. True, he hit just .308, his lowest mark since coming up, but his performance stamped him as a hitter to be reckoned with. "Moose" played in 134 games, rapped out 143 hits, 21 doubles, 23 home runs, and 90 runs batted in . . . all personal highs. He continued his improvement as a first baseman until he was among the best defensively. Now, big Bill may be seen at third base occasionally; but no matter where Casey Stengel decides to play him, it will be o.k. with Bill . . . just as long as he plays. His lifetime average of .319 is second only to Ted Williams' .348. A former football star at Purdue, Skowron has been living in Austin, Minnesota, where his off-season employment was in the meat produce business. Next winter he hopes to become a New Yorker.

ANDY CAREY

THIRD BASEMAN 6

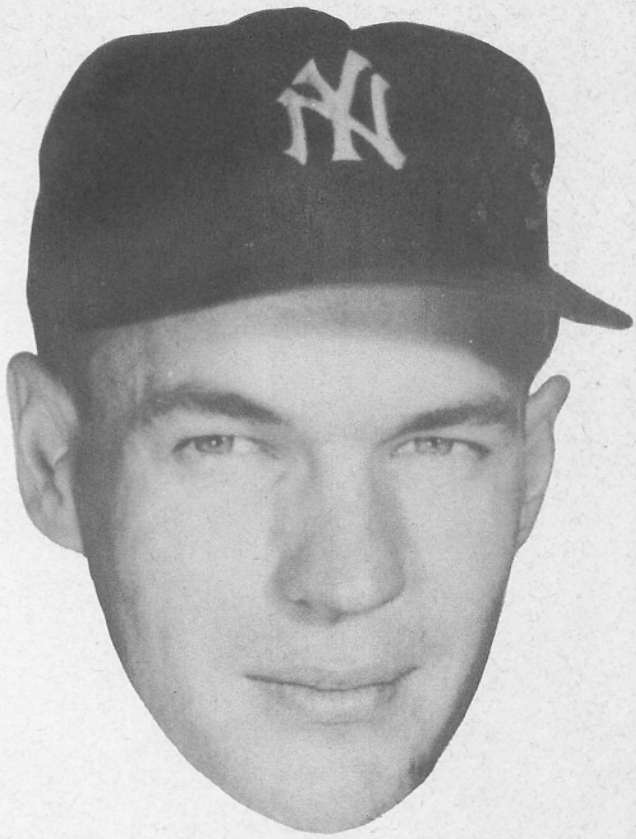
Born, Oct. 18, 1931 at Oakland, Calif. Resides at Malibu, Calif. Height—6'1". Weight—195. Bats right. Throws right. Married and father of one boy, James Kenneth (4 mo.). Color of hair, light brown. Color of eyes, blue.



Andy Carey

After two .300-plus seasons, Andy Carey slumped off at the plate in 1955 and 1956, but the 25-year-old third sacker intends to win the regular third base job again this year. Handy Andy lives at Malibu, California, near the film colony, and is married to movie actress Lucy Marlowe. In the off-season, Andy works for a brokerage firm. Last winter he built a boat, christened it the "Hot Corner." A reliable, and often spectacular third baseman, Andy played all seven games at that post in the '56 classic.

JOE COLLINS

FIRST BASEMAN-OUTFIELDER

Despite the continuing challenges from the able young prospects in the Yankee farm system, veteran Joe Collins continues to play a vital role in the Yankees' annual pennant drive. The popular first baseman-outfielder and jack-of-all-trades has played 100 games or more a season since he first became a regular in 1950. A fine clutch player, Joe has been particularly rough against the contenders. A brilliant fielding first sacker, Collins went through the entire 1956 season without an error at first, only to commit one in the second game of the World Series. That incidentally, was Joe's first miscue in the six Series in which he has participated.

JERRY COLEMAN

INFIELDER 42

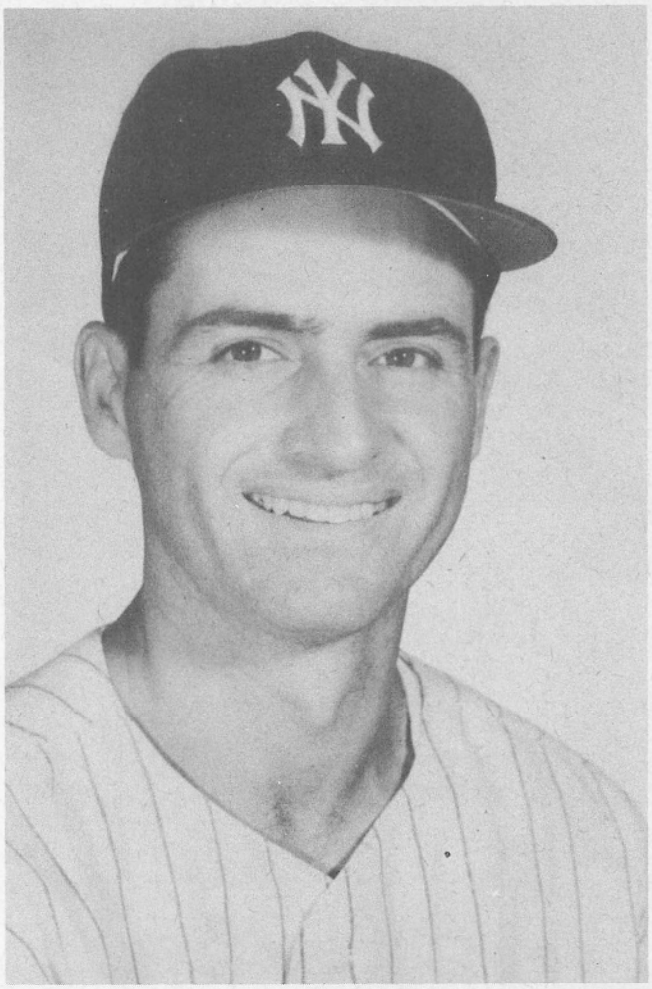
Born, Sept. 14, 1924 at San Jose, Calif. Resides at Ridgewood, N. J. Height—6'. Weight—167. Bats right. Throws right. Married, and father of one girl, Diane Louise (7), and one boy, Gerald Francis III (5). Color of hair, black. Color of eyes, brown.



Gerald Francis Coleman, Jr., joined the Yankees in 1949, when Casey Stengel assumed the managership of the club. Jerry is one of three remaining players (the others are Yogi Berra and Hank Bauer) who have been on each of Casey's title teams, including the incredible "five straight" champions of 1949-53. In 1949, as a freshman, Jerry topped the loop's keystoners with a .980 fielding average. After a big 1950 campaign in which he hit .287, Jerry was named the second winner of the Babe Ruth Award for his outstanding World Series performance against the Phillies . . . Since then he's had rough going. He served a second tour of duty in the Marines, flying 63 missions as a bomber pilot in Korea (after 57 during World War II) and missed most of the 1952 and '53 seasons. Injuries hampered his comeback in 1955 and 1956. But Jerry is still a fine defensive player at any of three infield positions (second, third and short). He's the Yankee player representative.

TONY KUBEK

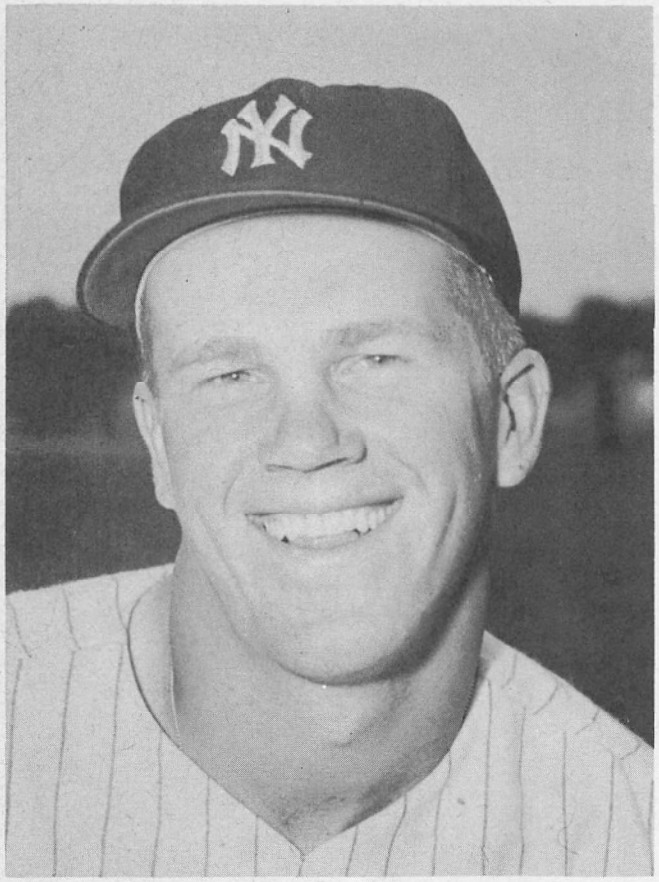
INFIELDER-OUTFIELDER

Born, Oct. 12, 1936 at Milwaukee, Wis. Resides at Milwaukee, Wis. Height—6'3". Weight—188. Bats left. Throws right. Single. Color of hair, blond. Color of eyes, blue.



Versatile Tony Kubek had the "can't miss" label put on him by everyone who saw him in the Yankee training camp. The All-star shortstop in the American Association at Denver last year, Tony has hit .344, .334 and .331 in his three full minor league campaigns. Casey Stengel has used young Kubek, a native Milwaukeean, at short and in left and center fields and he's looked good at each spot. You'll be hearing from him, in a Yankee uniform.

Tony Kubek

Manager Casey Stengel presents a valued Longines watch to young Tony Kubek on the last day of Florida spring training. The award was presented to the infielder-outfielder after he had received the votes of the New York writers with the Yankees at spring training. The annual rookie award is the James P. Dawson Memorial, named in honor of the late New York Times writer.

Little Bobby Richardson has been a big man in the American Association for the past two seasons. He was named the league's All-Star second baseman each year he played for Ralph Houk's Denver Bears, last summer hitting a robust .328. A magician at second, he has impressed Bomber pilot Casey Stengel as a fine prospect. If he hits big league pitching, you'll see a lot of this personable 21-year-old.

Yogi Berra

At last winter's Hickok Awards banquet in Rochester, George "Specs" Toporcer, former Cardinal star and long-time student of baseball, said "Yogi Berra, in my humble opinion, is the best clutch hitter who's ever lived." That statement by the ex-National Leaguer covers a lot of ground, but indicates the high regard in which the Yanks' popular three-time American League Most Valuable Player is held. He has been named the All-Star Major League catcher by the SPORTING NEWS four times, has played on eight consecutive A. L. All-Star teams. Among his many other marks, Yogi has hit more home runs (238) than any catcher in the game's history; he broke the World Series RBI mark last fall when he drove in 10 runs; he's caught more series games than any other catcher (45) and he has fanned fewer times in a season than any other Yankee regular (12 in 1950).

CATCHER - OUTFIELDER 32

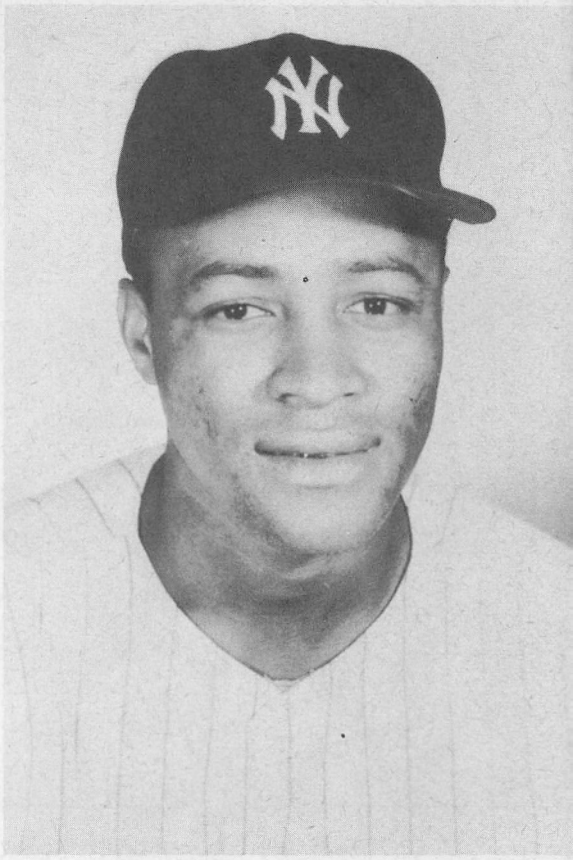
Born, Feb. 23, 1929 at St. Louis, Mo. Resides at St. Louis, Mo. Height — 6'2". Weight—198. Bats right. Throws right. Married and father of one boy, Elston, Jr. (1½). Color of hair, brown. Color of eyes, brown.



Casey Stengel's "Three-Way Player" . . . that's jack-of-all-trades Elston Howard. Last year he played 65 games in the outfield, 28 as Yogi Berra's replacement and got five pinch hits in 11 tries for a .455 mark in that department. When he spelled Berra early in the campaign, the club played good ball on a long road trip, a tribute to his work behind the plate. Howie has hit two World Series homers, the first off Don Newcombe in his first Series at bat in the '55 classic, and the last one also off the Dodger star in the seventh game of the 1956 World Series. His goal for 1957: to play more games for the Yankees. Where? Anywhere Casey needs him.

After two seasons as the American Association's All-Star catcher at Denver, where he hit .306 and .319, handsome Darrell Johnson is bidding to replace Charlie Silvera as the Yankees' utility receiver behind Yogi Berra and Elston Howard. Rated a fine catcher and handler of pitchers by his Denver skipper, Ralph Houk, Johnson returns to the major leagues after a four year absence. He was acquired by the Bombers in the huge 18-player deal with Baltimore late in 1954 which brought Bob Turley and Don Larsen into the Yankee fold.

TOPS IN MEDICAL CARE

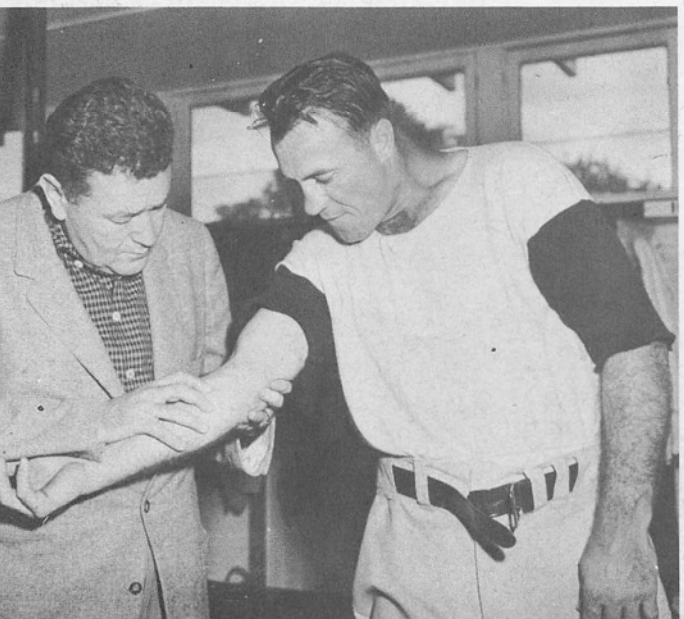
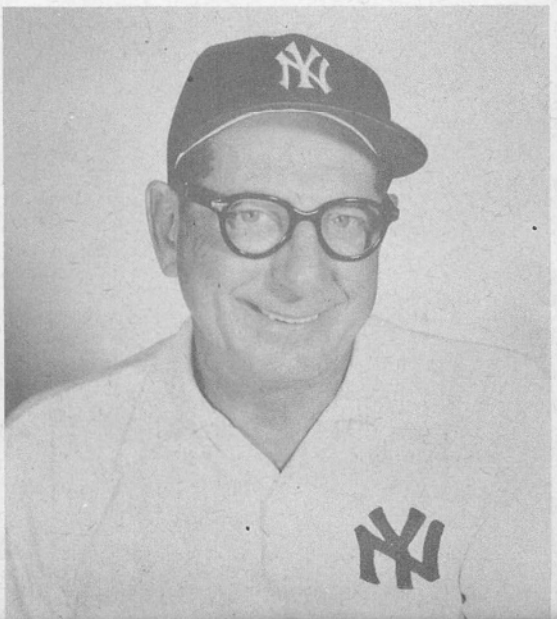
At the right is Yankee trainer Gus Mauch, a veteran of seven Yankee World Series. Gus has had long service as an athletic trainer in both college and professional sports. Each winter he conducts his own school for baseball trainers at Kissimmee, Florida.

Both Dr. Gaynor and Mauch had a busy spring, tending to the many training camp injuries sustained by the Yankees, including a broken left thumb of Bill Skowron, a sprained ligament in Mickey Mantle's left foot, spike wounds to Yogi Berra, a sore back for Hank Bauer, a pulled muscle for Billy Martin and many lesser injuries.





WHITEY FORD

PITCHER 16

Born, Oct. 21, 1928 at New York, N. Y. Resides at Glen Cove, N. Y. Height—5'10". Weight—182. Throws left. Bats left. Married and father of one girl, Sally Ann (5), and two boys, Edward (3½) and Thomas (2½). Color of hair, blond. Color of eyes, blue.

PITCHERS

Named the No. 1 pitcher in the American League in 1955 and to the mythical major league All-Star team in both 1955 and 1956 by the SPORTING NEWS, Whitey Ford still has one big goal ahead of him. Despite the fact that Whitey is the ace of the Yankee staff, he has yet to win 20 games. He came mighty close last summer with 19, and twice he's hit the 18 victory mark. But Manager Casey Stengel gladly will settle for continued pitching such as Ford has done since coming out of service. He has a lifetime 80-28 won-lost record, the best in the majors (.741) and the lowest lifetime ERA of any regular in the majors (2.73). He has yielded only 819 hits in 1010 innings of pitching with the champs. In World Series play, Ford is 4-2, and he's pitched for the last three American League All-Star teams. Not bad for a 28-year-old veteran!

JOHNNY KUCKS

Born, July 27, 1933 at Hoboken, N. J. Resides at Hillsdale, N. J. Height—6'3". Weight—184. Throws right. Bats right. Married, no children. Color of hair, blond. Color of eyes, blue.

The 1956 season was a big one for Johnny Kucks. He won a regular starting berth, copped 18 victories (just one less than staff leader Whitey Ford) in the Yankee pennant drive and on October 17th received the keys to Jersey City, N. J., before 10,000 fans. But it was October 10th that John won't soon forget. That was the day he won his first World Series game, and with it a World Series for the Yankees. With the Bomber-Dodger classic tied at three games apiece, Manager Casey Stengel named the 23-year-old Kucks to hurl the deciding game. He won it, on a brilliant three-hitter as his teammates pounded out a 9-0 triumph. Big things were predicted for long John in this Yearbook a year ago. Now with a big season behind him and 12 pounds added to his big frame, Johnny is hoping to crack the 20-win circle.

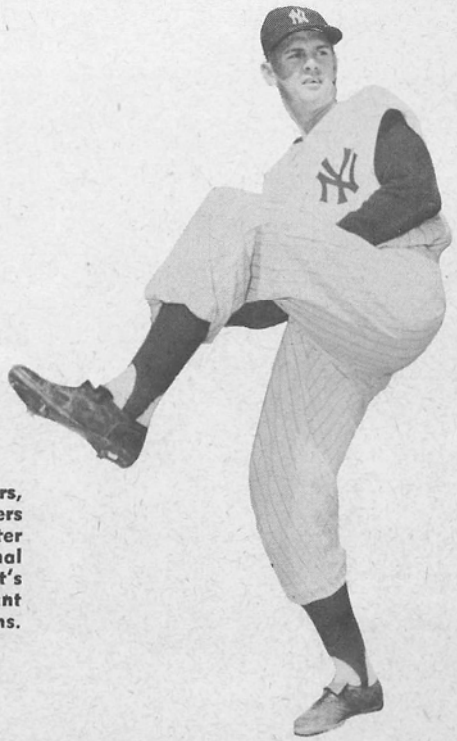
Johnny waves as photographers, reporters and broadcasters crowd around him after 9-0 World Series win in final game last October. That's teammate Tom Sturdivant offering congratulations.



TOM STURDIVANT

PITCHER 47

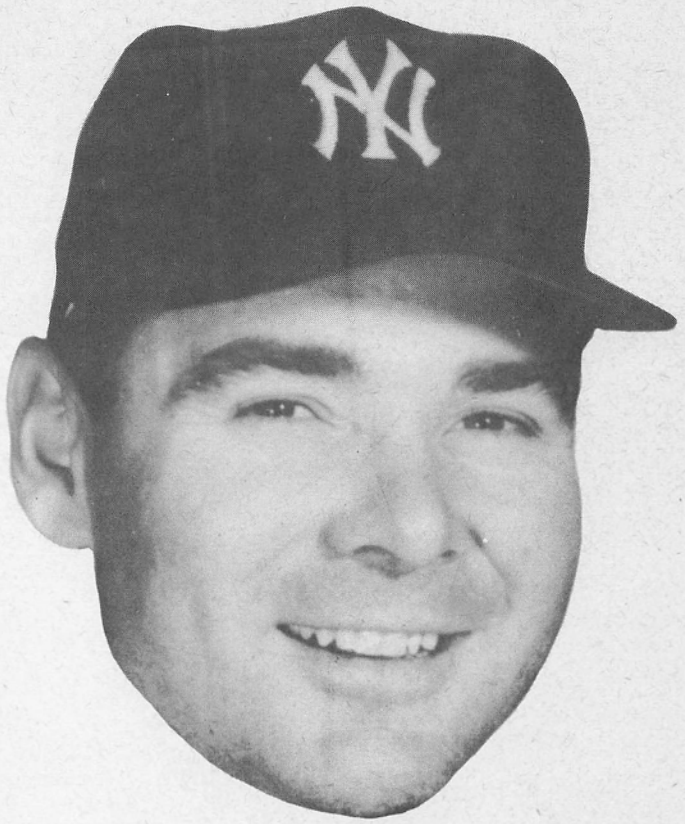
Born, April 28, 1930 at Gordon, Kans. Resides at Oklahoma City, Okla. Height —6'1". Weight—176. Throws right. Bats left. Married and father of two boys, Thomas III (3½) and Paul Marshall (1½). Color of hair, brown. Color of eyes, brown.



What a difference a year makes! In spring training, 1956, Tom Sturdivant was battling to hold a job on the Yankee staff after a 1-3 freshman season in '55. Before cutdown date in May a year ago, likable Tom was given a starting shot and pitched effectively, though he did not win. Then three quick relief successes on the first western road trip secured his position. From there he went on to win 16 important victories, while dropping only eight games. His biggest thrill, of course, came in the World Series when Tom evened the classic with the Dodgers by copping the fourth game. . . . This year, the story is different. Sturdy figures as an important pitcher in Manager Casey Stengel's plans . . . as a starter and as a reliever. The reformed infielder was the club's top chucker in the early spring training games.

DON LARSEN

PITCHER 18

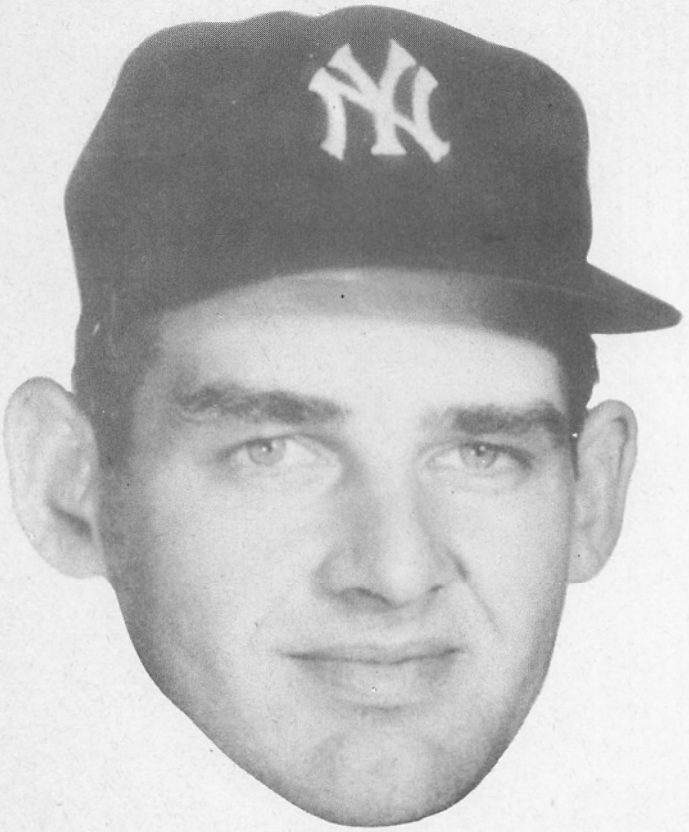
Born, Aug. 7, 1929 at Michigan City, Ind. Resides at San Diego, Calif. Height—6'4". Weight—224. Throws right. Bats right. Single. Color of hair, brown. Color of eyes, blue.



An analysis of Don Larsen's 1956 record reveals that the long right-hander yielded only 133 hits in 180 innings, a per game hit average of 6.65, lowest on the club. So perhaps his historic World Series performance was a logical followup of the low hit games he pitched during the season, particularly after he developed his no-windup delivery in September. Don is possessed of great ability and he, as well as all the Yankees, hope he realizes this pitching potential in 1957. Last summer he won 11 games, his major league high mark. But, of course, it was in the fifth game of the World Series that big Don re-wrote the record books. The "perfect game" in which Larsen faced the minimum 27 batters in beating Brooklyn, 2-0, was selected by a big majority of sports writers as the outstanding sports thrill of 1956, according to a poll in the SPORTING NEWS. There aren't many baseball records which can't be broken, but Don's is one of them. His perfect game can only be tied at best.

BOB TURLEY

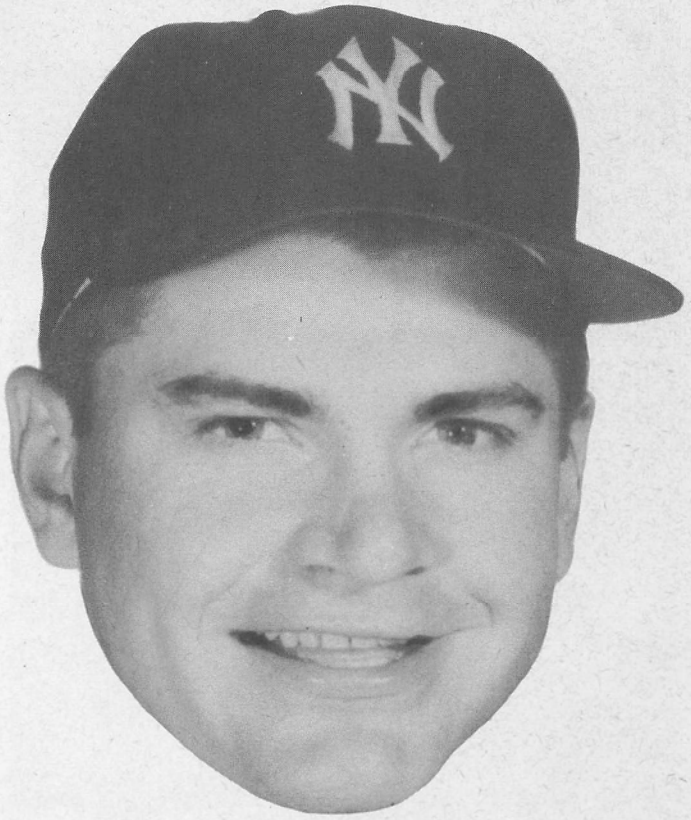
Born, Sept. 19, 1930 at Troy, Ill. Resides at Lutherville, Md. Height—6'2". Weight —215. Throws right. Bats right. Married and father of two boys, Terry Lee (2½) and Donnie Lee (6 mos.). Color of hair, blond. Color of eyes, blue.



The Yankees, as well as Bob Turley himself, hope that his brilliant World Series performance is an indication of things to come from this hard-throwing right-hander. Bob had a disappointing season in 1956, compiling an 8-4 record after a 17-13 campaign with the Bombers in 1955. In the sixth game of the series, Bob tossed a neat four-hitter, using the Larsen-type "no windup" delivery, but lost a tough 1-0 decision to Clem Labine in 10 innings. Bob fanned 11 Dodgers, a series record for a Yankee hurler. In the entire season, Bullet Bob had whiffed only 91 batters, compared to a league-leading mark of 185 in 1954 and a modern Yankee record of 210 in 1955. At 26, Bob Turley hopes to have the kind of year in 1957 that will insure his place as a Yankee pitching stalwart for years to come.

Long admired by Manager Casey Stengel, pint-sized but stout-hearted Bobby Shantz fully expects to contribute in a big way to a Yankee pennant in 1957. The little southpaw was a 24-game winner with Philadelphia in 1952, pitching an amazing 280 innings. But he hasn't pitched much more than that (340 innings) since '52, suffering a series of arm miseries that reduced his record for the last four years to 13-26. But Bob started a strong comeback as a relief man late last season and gave every indication of continuing his comeback this spring. Stengel still likes what he sees, a hard thrower, an intelligent pitcher, a good competitor, fine fielder and a pretty good "stick man." He was the American League's MVP in 1952. He started off that way again in 1957, serving as the surprise "comeback" ace of Stengel's staff.

ART DITMAR

PITCHER

If spring training performances are any indication, Art Ditmar is going to make a major contribution to the Yankee cause this season. Acquired just before the start of spring training in a 13-man trade with the Athletics, Art won 12 games each of the last two seasons, a high mark for the A's. True, he lost 22 last summer, but in 16 of those losses the Athletics scored three or fewer runs. Art was a shutout victim five times. He hurled a one-hit shutout over the White Sox and blanked the Tigers and Orioles. He pitched 254 innings, more than any 1956 Yankee hurler. At the age of 28, Art expects to have a long and (he hopes) successful career with the Yankees.

Bob Grim has been plagued by tough luck in each of the last two seasons, after his brilliant "Rookie of the Year" season in 1954 when he was 20-6. He has been on the sidelines for about two months in each of the last two campaigns with elbow and arm difficulties. He came back strong in August of last season and hopes to serve as Manager Casey Stengel's right-handed relief ace in the 1957 campaign. The Brooklynite has a 33-12 won-lost record for his Yankee career for a remarkable .733 average. In the first third of this season, Bob posted a brilliant 7-2 mark, all in relief.

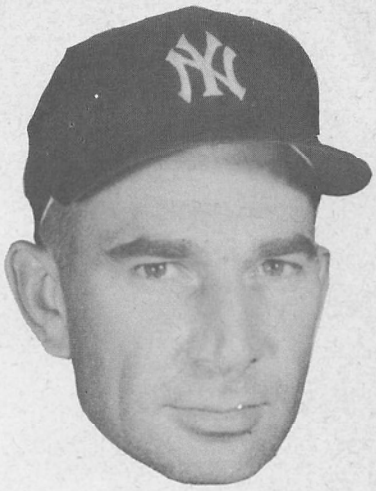
Born, Dec. 31, 1919 at Baltimore, Md. Resides at Wake Forest, N. C. Height—6'1". Weight—184. Throws left. Bats left. Married and father of two boys, Thomas, Jr. (13), and John Walter (7), and one girl, Mary Susan (4). Color of hair, black and gray. Color of eyes, brown.



Since being repurchased from the minors late in the 1954 season, Tommy Byrne has won 26 games and lost only 10 for the Yankees. His fine 1955 season won him "Comeback of the Year" honors. Used primarily in relief last year, the popular veteran lefty was 7-3. Once the wild man of the majors, Tommy finally mastered control which resulted in his great comeback. He started with the Yankee organization in 1940, was traded away in 1951 and returned in '54.

AL CICOTTE

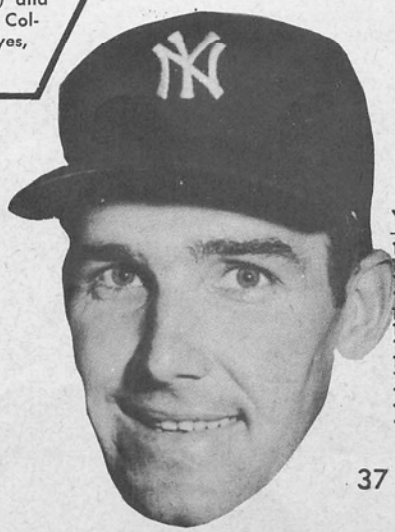
Born, Dec. 23, 1929 at Melvindale, Mich. Resides at Melvindale, Mich. Height—6'2". Weight—180. Throws right. Bats right. Married and father of one boy, Alva (2 yrs.) and one girl, Mary Eileen (4 mos.). Color of hair, black. Color of eyes, green.



Back for another try in the big time with the champion Yankees, Al Cicotte (pronounced SEE-COTT) is basing his bid on improved control and a greater variety of pitches. He had his best season in the high minors in '56 at Richmond (AAA International League) under the able guidance of Manager Eddie Lopat. Jim yielded only 151 hits in 205 innings last year, and hurled 10 four-hitters. His career has been interrupted twice by military service calls.

LEE MacPHAIL

Developing YANKEE STARS of Tomorrow

"It's great to be a Yankee" as so many young ball players across America have discovered. Boys from every area of this nation have played for the Bombers and have helped to build the Yankee legend. The story of the New York Yankees is the greatest success story in American sports. The New York American League club has won the unprecedented number of 22 pennants and 17 World Championships, all of them in the era of modern baseball, since 1921.

In that span of time, Yankee players have won $4,407,500.47 in World Series money, an average of $3,498.02 per player per year, or more than twice as much as the next club.

It takes constant building and planning to keep the Yankees strong year after year. "Home grown" players dominate the Yankee roster, a result of the continuously successful farm system operated by the club. George M. Weiss founded the Yankee farm system 25 years ago at the request of Col. Jacob Ruppert. Today, as general manager, he still keeps a close watch on the development of future Bronx Bombers.

Lee MacPhail supervises the farm operation today as the club's Director of Player Personnel. MacPhail himself is a graduate of the Yankee farm system, having served with farm clubs before joining the Yanks. He is assisted by Johnny Johnson, affiliated with the Yankee minor league organization before joining the champs.

One of the Yankee innovations that has speeded young recruits to the parent club is the famed "Instructional School" which has produced such outstanding Yanks as Mickey Mantle, Gil McDougald, Johnny Kucks, Bob Grim, Tom Sturdivant, Bill Skowron, Elston Howard, Bobby Richardson and Tony Kubek among many others.

The Yankee farm system is well balanced and compact. There are two AAA clubs, one each in AA, A and B, two in class C and three in class D, a total of 10 teams.

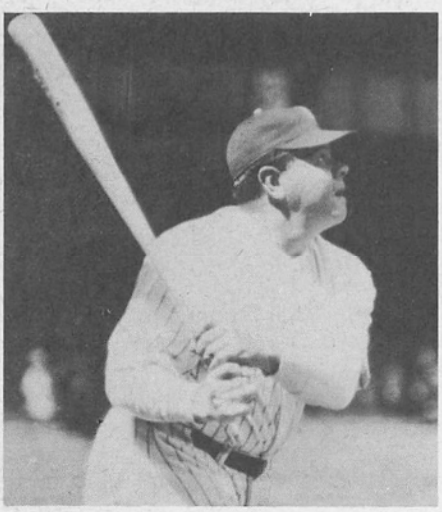
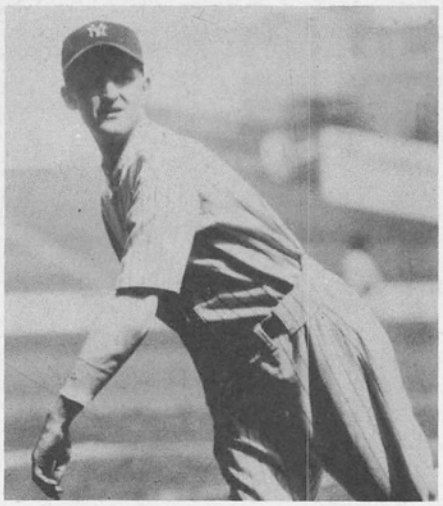
YEAR by YEAR HEROES as YANKEES

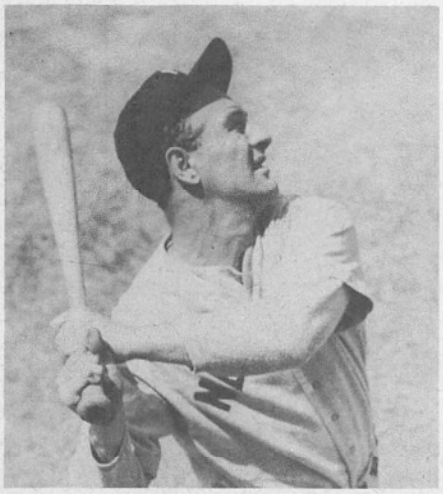


1923 BABE RUTH hit .368 against Giants with three homers as Yankees won first World Championship.

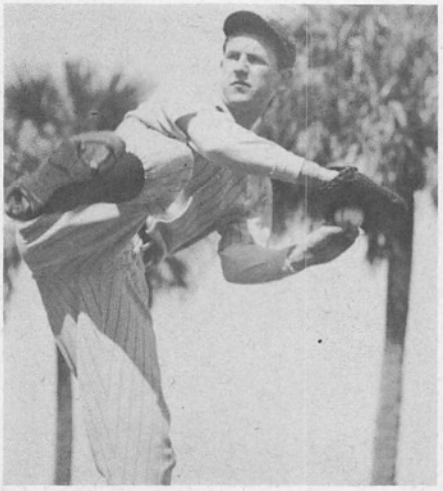


1927 HERB PENNOCK retired first 22 Pirates in second game, winning 8-1, for his fifth series win without a loss.

1928 BABE RUTH again led the Yankees to a four straight win as he clubbed Cardinal pitching for a record .625 average.

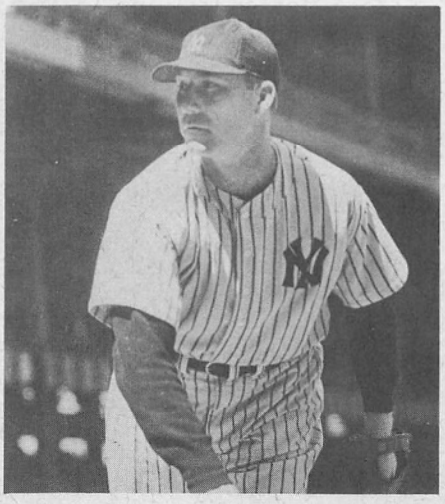


1932 LOU GEHRIG larruped Cubs at a .529 average, batted in eight runs and scored nine in four-game series sweep.

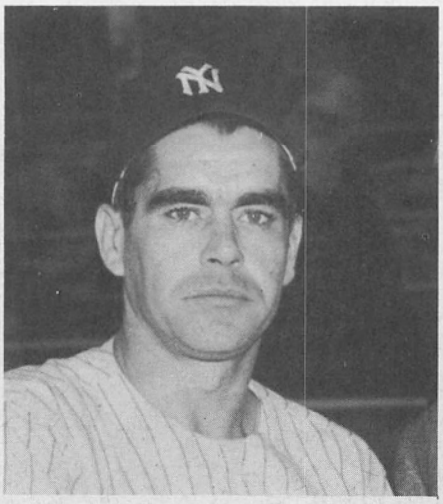


1936 LEFTY GOMEZ posted a pair of wins over Giants, going on to a perfect 6-0 lifetime record in series play.

1937 TONY LAZZERI, playing his sixth and last World Series, led both clubs with a .400 average as Yanks beat Giants.



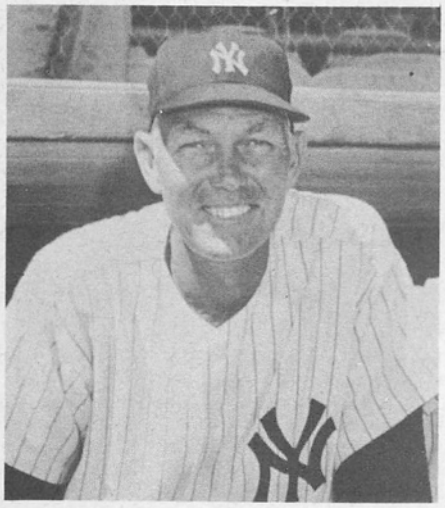
1938 RED RUFFING posted two series wins over Cubs, both complete games, on his way to record seven series wins.



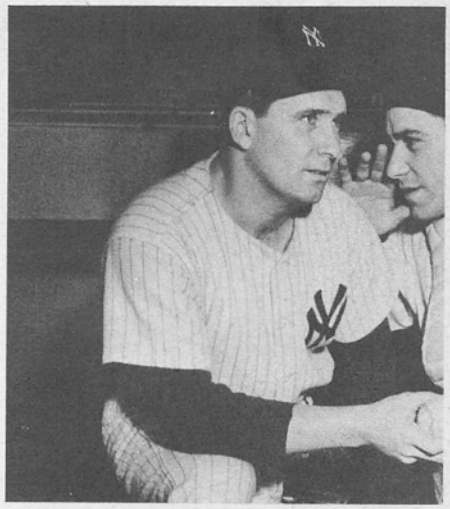
1939 Rookie CHARLEY KELLER blasts Cincinnati for three homers and a .438 mark as Yanks won fourth straight series.

1941 TOMMY HENRICH swung at third strike missed by catcher Owen in 9th of fourth game as Yanks rallied to beat Dodgers.

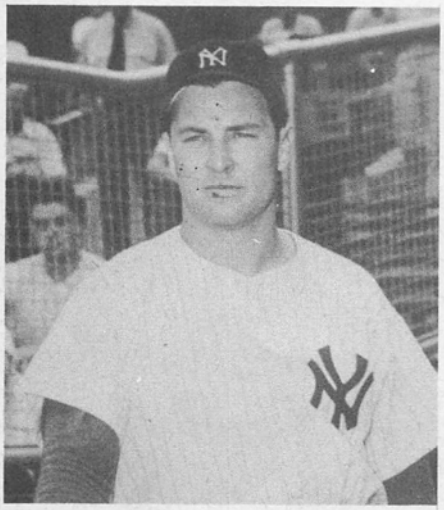
WIN RECORD 17 WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS



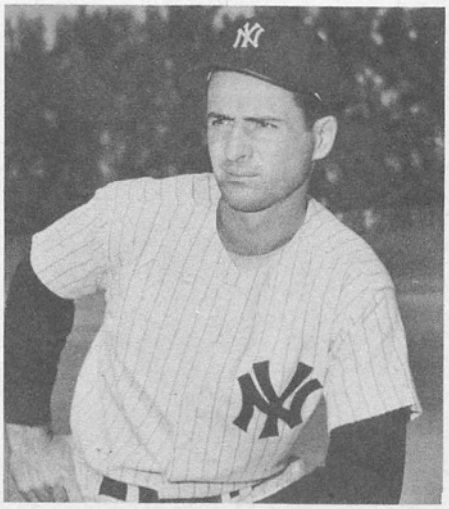
1943 BILL DICKEY hit two-run homer in deciding game to give Yankees 2-0 win over Cardinals and tenth W. S. victory.



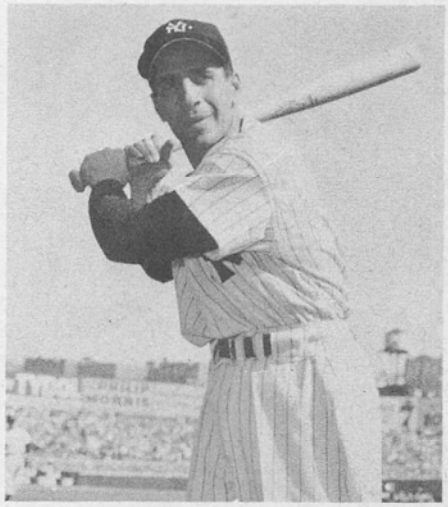
1947 FRANK SHEA hurled two victories over Dodgers in rookie season as Yankees edged Brooklyn, four games to three.



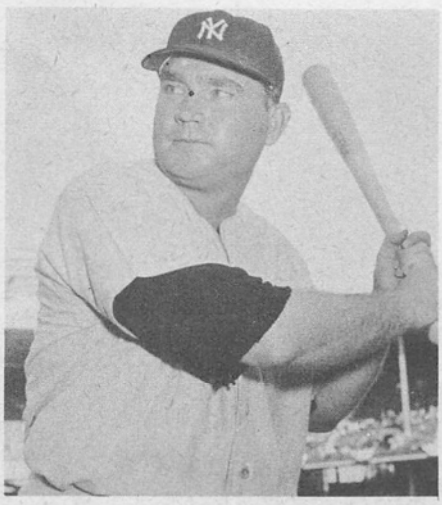
1949 JOE PAGE, ace Yank fireman, won one game, saved another to nail down win over Dodgers in Stengel's first season.



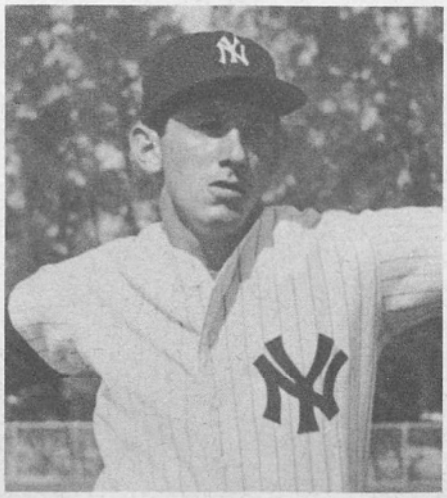
1950 JERRY COLEMAN'S clutch hitting drove in winning runs in sweep over Phils. Coleman won Babe Ruth series award.



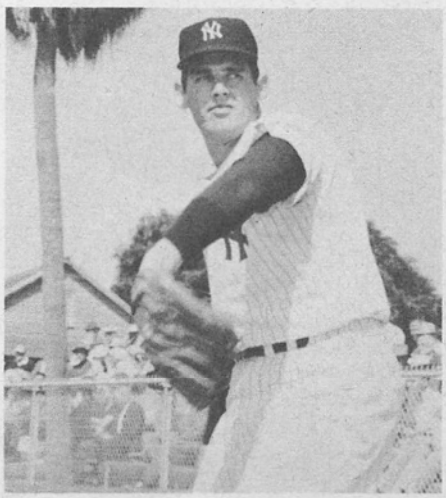
1951 PHIL RIZZUTO topped Yankee hitters with .320 average and sparkled afield in win over Giants. Won Ruth award.



1952 JOHNNY MIZE, fourth straight Ruth Award winner in series, belts three homers to lead Yanks over Dodgers.



1953 BILLY MARTIN bats .500, sets series record with 23 bases as Yanks capture fifth straight W. S. under Casey Stengel.



1956 DON LARSEN pitched first perfect game in 307-game W. S. history, as Yanks edge Dodgers in seven game thriller.

PICTURES THAT MADE NEWS

It's news when Mickey Mantle signs his contract! In elaborate ceremonies at the Stadium, the press interviews the Yankees' Triple Crown winner.

"Here's how you handle your mitt in this game," says catcher Yogi Berra to reformed catcher and retired heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano who visited the Bombers in training at St. Petersburg.

Just about the best covered sports story in America, year in and year out, is the New York Yankees. The Bombers are covered at home and away by a distinguished corps of baseball writers and columnists representing the great metropolitan New York newspapers, plus the press services and syndicates . . . Pictured above is a scene in the Yankee press box during a game.

Event of the Year!

OLD TIMERS' DAYS

Perhaps the outstanding single event of the year at Yankee Stadium is the traditional Old Timers' Day. A Yankee innovation, the Old Timers' Days have developed into one of the most colorful and popular events on the sports calendar.

Another elaborate program is scheduled for the 1957 Old Timers' Day, which this year again will be combined with a salute to the new members of Baseball's "Hall of Fame." Former Yank pilot Joe McCarthy and ex-Detroit Tiger great "Wahoo" Sam Crawford were named to the Cooperstown Pantheon by the Old Timers' Committee last winter. Five days after their induction they will be Stadium guests, along with many other heroes of baseball's yesterday.

The date this year is Saturday, July 27th, when, appropriately, the 1957 edition of the Detroit Tigers will be the regular Stadium opponent. A team of former Tiger greats will meet a team of ex-Yanks who played under McCarthy. Ty Cobb, most illustrious of all Tigers and considered by many as the greatest player in history, will be one of the former stars who will attend this year's classic.

John Franklin "Home Run" Baker gives a few pointers (below) to the Yanks' current homer king, Mickey Mantle, at last year's Old Timers' event. No, he didn't recommend using the over-sized bat.

Giants World Champs 47-7!

Drama on the frozen Yankee Stadium turf. Dec. 30, 1956. The Giants climax their switch to the Stadium with a shattering World Championship victory over the Chicago Bears. Three views here expose the Giants' secrets.

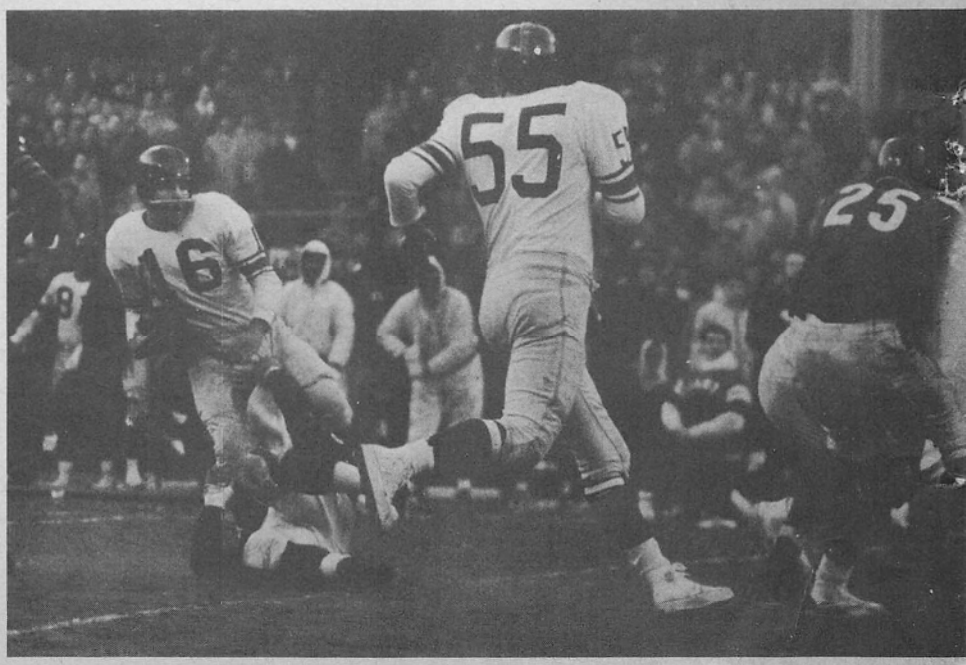
Power . . .

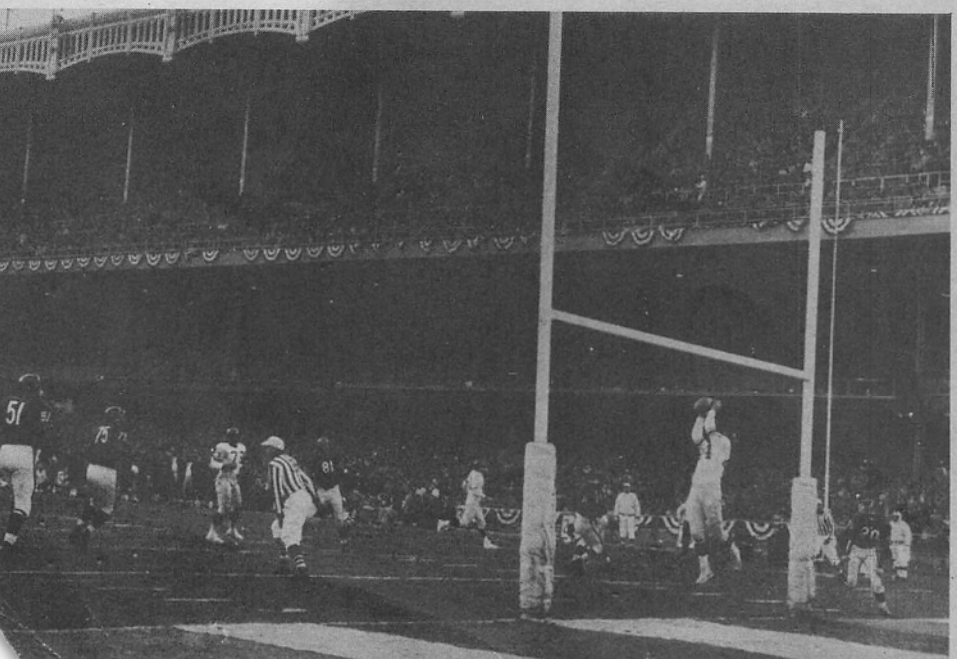
The Giants had power in abundance. Left, Mel Triplett, a battering ram fullback, blasts 17 yards for the Champions' first touchdown. Triplett slowed for no one, including Umpire Mike Wilson, two tacklers and a blocking guard. All were trampled as he drove across the goal.

The Gifted Mr. Gifford

Skill . . .

The Giants that day were a talent-outfit, but Halfback Frank Gifford, if one man may be said to personify a team, was their virtuoso. The NFL's Player of the Year, shows uncanny balance (right) as he twists away to ramble for more yards. All season Gifford, and running mate Alex Webster, ran powerfully inside the tackles, or skirted the ends. Gifford also passed for touchdowns and set a new record for pass receptions. One Sunday, as the Giants walloped the Redskins, Giff scored 3 TDs and passed to a fourth.





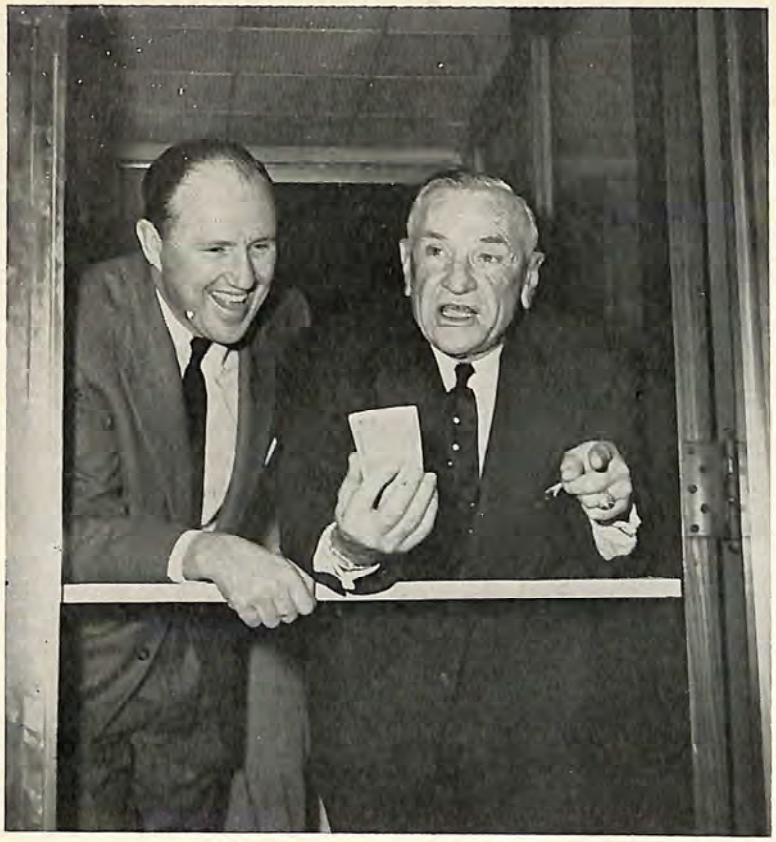
In Stadium in 1957

Finesse . . .

Kyle Rote all alone under the goal posts, and Passer Charley Conerly (still untouched extreme right) make football seem like a game for gentlemen—or magicians.

In 1957 the Giants' five pronged offense, and those big rough lines, return to Yankee Stadium on six Autumn Sunday afternoons.

Watch the Giants' exciting struggle to retain their World Championship. Season tickets, offering choice locations to all six home games, are available now at the Giants' midtown office.



NEW DOWNTOWN TICKET OFFICE

Manager Casey Stengel (right) holds the first tickets as Yankee Ticket Manager Jack White opens the new Grand Central Station ticket office. For the convenience of Yankee fans in Manhattan, the club has moved its downtown ticket office to the North Balcony, just above the Information Booth (Vanderbilt Avenue level) in the Grand Central Terminal. It is open daily, Monday through Saturday, from 8:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M.

The Yankee Stadium Advance Ticket Office is open every day of the season, including Sundays, from 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. and until 11:00 P.M. when night games are being played at home.

Or you can order now by mail for any game of the season. Tickets will be mailed to you in ample time for the games. Here are three steps to follow if ordering by mail:

1. Specify date of game or games and the NUMBER and PRICE of tickets desired.
2. Make check or money order payable to THE YANKEES.
3. Add 25c for handling and mail charges.
